Former Child Psychologist Sentenced for Sexually Assaulting Patients

A former child psychologist convicted of inappropriately touching children was sentenced today to eight years in state prison, the Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office announced.

Thomas Gary Amberson, 58, of Upland pleaded no contest on June 23 to two felony counts of lewd act upon a child.

At the sentencing, Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge George Genesta also ordered Amberson to register as a sex offender for life.

Deputy District Attorney Cynthia Valenzuela, who prosecuted the case, said one of Amberson's patients revealed to his parents that the defendant touched him inappropriately during therapy sessions in 2010.

The parents contacted law enforcement and an investigation revealed that Amberson also had sexually abused another patient in 2007.

Both victims were under the age of 13 years old when the crimes occurred.

The case was investigated by the Claremont Police Department.
